

ABSTRACT

A method and apparatus of simplified navigation. A simplified navigation interface is presented including a set of navigation options. The navigation options may be selected by a voice command. The interface matches a received radio signal to a navigation option. Web content may be traversed based on voice commands.